STODDARD LIVES

Quarterly Edition - July 2020

STODDARD'S MISSION:

“To form and sustain safe, viable and caring communities for those in need”.

~ RUN FOR RUTH ~

Running in solidarity with our seniors and the heroic staff supporting them.

On Friday, June 12th, D.C. resident, Corey Cappelloni, ran 220 miles from D.C. to Scranton, Pennsylvania to see his 98 year-old grandmother from outside her window at the Allied Services Skilled Nursing and Rehabilitation Center. His goal is to raise awareness for the needs of all older adults and the heroic staff that care for them, as he stated:

“This endurance challenge is a way for me to show Nana that I am there for her, to raise awareness for all the residents in nursing homes, assisted living facilities and rehabilitation centers across the country and the world. The run is also to honor the victims of coronavirus, including my great uncle Charles “Chuck” Gloman who passed away on May 11th, and to deeply thank all the heroic staff at Allied Services and similar organizations for putting the care of others first.”

On the first stage of his journey, Corey ran down Wisconsin Avenue and through Georgetown before making his way around the Mall and circling back through Dupont Circle and Adams Morgan. On his way out of the District, he ran past Stoddard Baptist Nursing Home in Northwest, where staff and residents were awaiting his arrival to offer socially distanced support.

Mr. Steve Nash, President/CEO, expressed, “We were very excited to have him stop by Stoddard on this epic run to bring attention to the heroic workers at Stoddard and other nursing facilities. They represent the goodness and courage of the world as they are fearless in their bringing to light, love at its highest point at a time of great darkness.”

A Message From Ms. Keisha M. Clark, Director of Development

Dear friends and supporters of Stoddard!

It is both an exciting and humbling experience to receive your gifts. I smile with curiosity to see who has given and more importantly, why they have chosen to give! Instantly, I am appreciative and thank God for the selflessness of others.

The Dalai Lama wrote, "The roots of all goodness lie in the soil of appreciation". Since 1902, Stoddard has been a grateful beneficiary of "goodness" from our supporters. COVID-19 has certainly interrupted our "normal" routines and operations; however, we have been blessed with so many acts of kindness. Our "soil of appreciation" stems from our trust in God and belief that people are kind and believe in our mission.

As a supporter, your gifts and donations matter greatly. Each gift helps to sustain our daily mission of caring for residents and those in need within the community.

To learn more about Stoddard or how to support, I warmly welcome the opportunity to speak with you. You may contact me directly at 301-760-7514 or via email at: kclark@sbhfdc.org.

Howard University Faculty Practice Plan Opens a Second COVID-19 Testing Facility at Pennsylvania Avenue Baptist Church in Ward 7

The Howard University Faculty Practice Plan has opened a second COVID-19 Testing Facility at The Pennsylvania Avenue Baptist Church, 3000 Pennsylvania Avenue, Southeast, Washington, D.C., to provide expanded access to free testing to residents in Ward 7 and 8, where testing is needed the most. The testing site is open on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10:00 a. m. to 2:00 p.m., by appointment. A Howard medical team member will see patients who are showing symptoms or who believe they are asymptomatic. For appointments, please call the Faculty Practice Plan at 202-865-2109.

“Given the essential role testing plays in protecting our community from COVID, I am pleased that Howard University has chosen Pennsylvania Avenue Baptist Church as a testing site,” said Rev. Kendrick Curry, Pastor of Pennsylvania Avenue Baptist Church. “This partnership will go a long way in protecting the health of my community. It has been one of my dreams to have COVID testing.”

While the testing sites are short term assignments that will be managed during the pandemic, the Virtual Health Ministry project is positioned to begin a long-term investment into the community. Faith institution-managed call centers, staffed by health ministry leaders from the participant faith institutions, will make proactive calls to residents to determine health and social needs and to provide public health information to mitigate the spread of the virus. The faith based coordinators serve as a bridge to connect those who need it to healthcare providers using telemedicine; or to the Howard University School of Social Work where navigators connect people with social and counseling resources.

Employee Spotlight

Ms. Portia Richardson, Medical Records Manager, Stoddard Baptist Global Care, was honored with a “Special Award” from CECA. Ms. Richardson set up the video conferences between the family members and their loved ones, making it possible for families to see their loved ones and know that they were alright during this time. Even on Mother’s Day, she went to work just to enable families be able to wish their loved ones a Happy Mother’s Day. Ms. Richardson made sure that everyone who wanted to see or talk to their love one, was able to do so. She would go from floor to floor and room to room on a daily basis, sometimes not even stopping to eat lunch. Ms. Richardson also did the same on Father’s Day. Coming in to make sure that the family members could wish their love ones a Happy Father’s Day.
